

Struts 2

Struts 2 modelDriven interceptor example

The modelDriven interceptor makes other model object as the default object of valuestack.

Bydefault, action object is the default object of valuestack.

To use the modelDriven interceptor, you need to implement ModelDriven interface in your action class and override its method getModel().

It is found in the default stack bydefault. So you don't need to specify it explicitly.